

Relationship Management & Influencing for Finance One-Day Workshop

Summary

Relationship management and influencing are foundation skills for effective business partnering. Finance Business Partners and Finance Professionals need to forge positive productive relationships within the function and with business customers. Their ability to influence senior managers and teams, using a range of skills and techniques, will directly support their ability to build credibility, add value and make a difference.

This workshop develops the essential relationship management and influencing skills, knowledge and attitude required by Finance Business Partners and Professionals who have relationship management responsibilities in their role.

The standard workshop is available as a one-day in-house workshop. We also can provide a two-day more in-depth workshop which includes stakeholder reviews, a case study, skill practise and feedback.

Contents will include:

- A self assessment tool to produce a relationship management and influencing personal profile
- Evaluation of current relationships and techniques for building rapport and strong relationships
- Personality drivers – your own and others
- Political mapping and stakeholder management
- Negotiation and contracting, agreeing expectations
- Advocacy – how to sell a solution
- Influencing challenges – typical scenarios and personal challenges
- Image audit – “How am I seen by others?”
- Action and development planning

This workshop will enable you to:

- Assess yourself against a bespoke relationship management and influencing profile – the knowledge, skills and attitude required
- Explore the important relationships in your role and techniques for building rapport
- Identify the key personality drivers of colleagues and clients and how to adapt your style
- Understand the political map of your organisation and client group
- Identify strategies to effectively influence key stakeholders
- Explore key influential partnering techniques including negotiation and selling a solution
- Discuss personal influencing challenges and explore techniques for dealing with resistance and saying ‘no’ productively
- Review personal impact and image with key stakeholders
- Create a personal action and development plan

Workshop Details

This workshop is run in-house for clients and can either be ‘off-the-shelf’ or designed as a bespoke workshop. The ‘off-the-shelf’ version is a one-day workshop though a two-day more in depth version can be delivered.

For an informal discussion, please call Judith Strange on +44(0)7866 676230 or email judith.strange@develop.uk.com.

T/F: 0870 760 1221

www.develop.uk.com

info@develop.uk.com

develop uk

The Specialists in Business Partnering